

Chemistry 1300 final tutorial notes

Please read the following information very carefully. It can save you time and money. Everything has been explained in simple and plain language so there should not be any misunderstanding. All fees for the booklets and for the tutorial sessions are final and there are no returns or refunds for any reason. By paying the fee you are agreeing to all conditions set forward by www.prepseminars.com

I don't have access to U of M WebCT site (needs an ID and a password) so If you are taking a course that it has its materials and information on U of M WebCT site and you need help for that course please contact me by the phone or by the e-mail.

1-These notes will only cover the materials for the final exam (from the mid-term exam to the end of the course). The final exam in this course is cumulative, so you need to know all the stuff from the start of the course to the end.

2-The mid-term exam tutorial session has its own set of the notes which will cover only the materials for the mid-term exam (materials from the start of the course up to the mid-term exam)

3-This tutorial booklet is not a solution manual. This booklet is hand written, not typed. There are no answers to any specific questions from any old exams, any assignments or any quizzes in these booklets. I will do the step by step solutions to the sample questions during the tutorial session.

4-All questions involving calculations only will be covered during the tutorial sessions and they are not included in any tutorial booklet.

5-The tutorial booklet covers an overview of the materials you need to know for this particular course. It covers important topics, theoretical concepts, definitions, formulas, graphs, tables, diagrams, shapes, names, explanations for the topics, etc.....

6-I have put the tutorial booklet together based on your course outline, your text book and your class notes. All materials in the tutorial booklet are available to you through different sources; I just put them all together in one place. You are still responsible for everything covered in your course outline and the class notes.

7-I will not offer any tutoring help by the phone or by the e-mail so make sure you ask all of your questions during the tutorial session.

8-If you have a question that you want an answer to it, you can send it to me (before the tutorial session) in a PDF file or MS words format by the e-mail and I will go over it during the tutorial session. I will only answer the questions during the tutorial session so everybody can benefit from it.

9-The tutorial booklet is ready only on the day of the tutorial (See Next Page)

Session or afterward.

10-If you lose your tutorial booklet for any reason you need to pay the full $40 for another copy.

11-If there is anything wrong with your tutorial booklet (such as missing pages or copying problems) let the person in charge know about it. If you leave the tutorial session or the point of purchase with the tutorial booklet, I assume that you accepted the tutorial booklet complete and to your satisfaction. All sales are final and there are no returns and no refunds.

12-There might be some unintended mistakes in the tutorial booklet so if you find any mistake in the tutorial booklet or if you notice any mistake made during the tutorial session please bring it up to David's attention in person, by the e-mail or by the phone so the mistake can be corrected.

13-If you want to be notified about the dates and locations of upcoming tutorial sessions you can add your e-mail address to the e-mail list by going to www.prepseminars.com

14-All rights are reserved. No copying or no reproduction of these notes in any way. For more detailed information about the tutorial notes please visit the web site www.prepseminars.com
